The Canadian Anthropological Society (CASCA) held an academic conference in Santiago de Cuba with Universidad de Oriente in May 2018. Shown on the left are panelists on Japan and globalization from UBC's Department of Anthropology: paper presenters Francesca Pegorer (PhD student), Millie Creighton (faculty member), Basant Ahmed Sayed (MA student), and discussant Nichola Levell (faculty member).

Millie Creighton organized the session: 'Space, Place, and Identities Amidst Culture Contact: Cosmopolitanism Involving Japan in Reference to Germany, Egypt, Nigeria, and Globalization Flows' for the CASCA-Cuba joint conference held in Santiago de Cuba, May 16-20.

Millie Creighton presented the paper: 'Architecture and Identity: Kenzo Tange's Japan, and Africa-Asia Connections in Nigeria's Capital City Project,' at the CASCA-Cuba joint conference held in Santiago de Cuba on May 17, 2018.

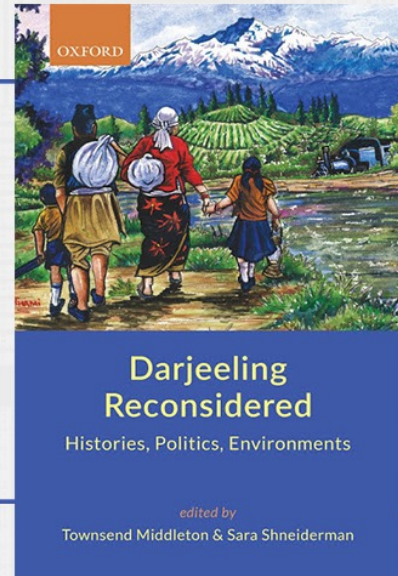

Basant Ahmed Sayed presented the paper: 'Globalization and Transnational Consumption: The Case of Japanese Cute Culture and TV Dramas,' at the joint CASCA-Cuba conference held in Santiago de Cuba on May 17, 2018.

Francesca Pegorer presented the paper: 'From Wasteland, to Edgeland, to Sacred Land: Urban Gardens, Communitas, and 'the City' in Berlin and Tokyo,' at the joint CASCA-Cuba conference held in Santiago de Cuba on May 17, 2018.
