Remembering Professor Emeritus, Cyril S. Belshaw December 3, 1921 — November 20, 2018

Born in New Zealand, Cyril Belshaw received an M.A. from Victoria College, New Zealand and a Ph.D. from the London School of Economics. Before coming to the University of British Columbia in 1953, he was a research fellow at the Australian National University. In 1959, Belshaw was appointed as acting head of the Department of Anthropology, Criminology and Sociology at UBC. In 1968, he was again appointed head. Belshaw retired from the position in 1974 but remained on staff as a professor. In 1960, he served as president of the Faculty Association and in 1961, he was appointed director of the UN Regional Training Centre at UBC. Belshaw also served as a consultant to the UN Bureau of Social Affairs and as editor of Current Anthropology. He retired from the University in 1987.

Congratulations to the graduate students who have advanced to candidacy: Thomas Brown, Yujie Ji and Natasha Osing

Congratulations to Millie Creighton who received a grant of $4,500 from the Centre for Korean Research for her project on Children's and Youths' Consumerism in South Korea

In October 2018, more than 60 members and affiliates of the UBC Indigenous/Science research excellence cluster and Indigenous community partners gathered at Musqueam for a two and a half day workshop. We heard Indigenous leaders speak of their frustration over lack of action toward reconciliation, the need for academics to increase their cultural competency and for the academy to provide education and training opportunities to Indigenous youth. We heard from researchers who are incorporating Indigenous voices and epistemologies into their work and whose decades of experience with research partnerships illustrate the challenges and benefits of collaboration. Through these and other conversations, we are collectively charting a path for our cluster's future. Contact Jessica Metcalfe for more information at jessica.metcalfe@ubc.ca.

Voices of Ethnobiology

This conference will be held in
Vancouver, B.C., May 8-11, 2019

Daisy Rosenblum

Conference co-organizer

This year's Society of Ethnobiology conference theme, "Voices", recognizes the many ways ethnobiological knowledge is communicated and promoted through stories, songs, language, and activism. Submissions on all ethnobiological topics are welcome, and early bird registration is open until January 15, 2019: <http://bit.do/EthnobiologyRegister>

Evan Koike, Ph.D. Candidate in the Department of Anthropology at the University of British Columbia presents his work on contemporary concepts of masculinities and fathering in Japan at the American Anthropological Association annual meetings in San Jose, California. Photo by Millie Creighton.

Congratulations to Mark Turin who was awarded the SSHRC Explore Grant: 'Measuring Impact in Language Revitalization' and the SSHRC Partnership Engage Grant: 'Shadpa: The Collaborative Documentation of an Endangered Tibetan Oral Tradition'

On October 30th the AGSA hosted the first event of the Pizza with Faculty Talk Series. Gaston Gordillo presented "The Power of Mountains: On Terrain as Sentient Being." A groups of 39 faculty, graduate students and undergraduate students attended.
