

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Department of Anthropology

---

ANTH 227

INTRODUCTION TO MEDICAL ANTHROPOLOGY

This course provides an introduction to medical anthropology with an overview of the intersection where health, culture, and political-economic power meet. It compels that you consider not only academically challenging materials on health and illness intra- and cross-culturally, but that you also question your own personal and social beliefs about bodies and the causes and re~ actions to their vulnerabilities.

---

Summer Session Term 2

July-August 2020

For details www.courses.students.ubc.ca