

The Anthropology of Energy & Sustainability

What does climate justice look like?

Instructor - Doctor Tracy Heatherington

2023 Winter Term 1: Mon/Wed, 3:30pm-5pm

From petrocapiatalism to climate colonialism, anthropologists have witnessed the global injustices of energy extraction and consumption. This course explores critical approaches to energy systems in the Anthropocene, drawing on key concepts from the social sciences, and ethnographic case studies from different parts of the world.
